

GBC continuity

Greater Baltimore Committee elects Saul Ewing's Monk to become business group's new chairman

Charles O. Monk II, managing partner of the Baltimore law offices of Saul Ewing LLP, was elected chairman of the Greater Baltimore Committee during its annual meeting at the Hyatt Regency Baltimore in May William R. Roberts, president of Verizon Maryland Inc., was re-elected vice chair. Robert C. Embry Jr., president of The Abell Foundation, was re-elected treasurer. William E. "Brit" Kirwan, chancellor of University System of Maryland, was elected secretary.

Monk succeeded outgoing GBC Chair Atwood "Woody" Collins III, president and COO, Mid-Atlantic Division, M&T Bank. As immediate past chair, Collins continued to serve as a GBC officer in 2009-10.

The GBC also elected 12 Baltimore-area executives as new members of its board of directors. Elected to their first two-years terms were: Robert A. Chrencik, president and chief executive officer, University of Maryland Medical System; William S. Corey Jr., managing partner, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP; William Couper, president-MidAtlantic, Bank of America; Christopher A. Eddings, publisher and president, The Daily Record; Fred Graffam, regional senior vice president, Comcast, Beltway Region; and Philippe Jacon, president, BD Diagnostics.

Also, Sandra L. Kurtinitis, president, Community College of Baltimore County; Ellen Lord, senior vice president/general manager, AAI Corp./Textron Systems; Robert A. Manekin, senior vice president, Manekin LLC; Rachel E. Garbow Monroe, chief operating officer, The Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation Inc.; Kenneth A. Samet, president and chief executive officer, MedStar Health; and Ian D. Wilson, president and CEO, McCormick & Co. Inc.

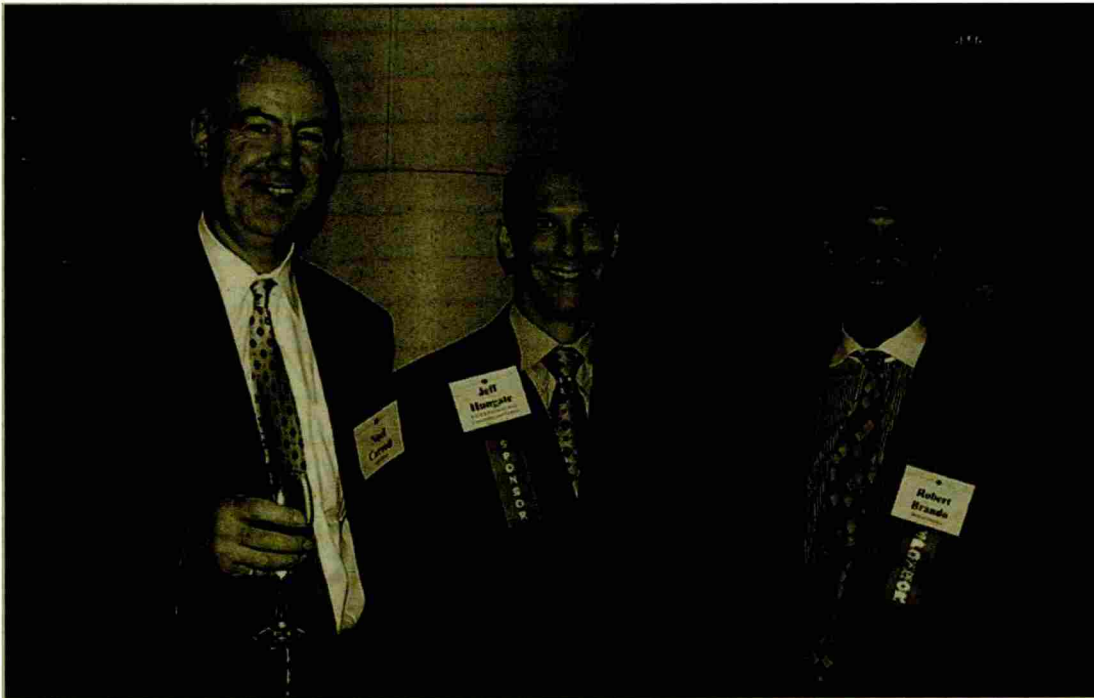

From left, Tony Randall, Verizon Maryland Inc.; Charles Beckwith, Verizon Maryland Inc.; and Donald Fry, Greater Baltimore Committee.

Photos by Diane Hughes, Director of Online & Web Communications, Greater Baltimore Committee

From left, Shannon Landwehr, Melissa Harris, Darlene Holmes and Olga Ferguson, all of Economic Alliance of Greater Baltimore.

From left, Noel Carroll, M&T Bank; Jeff Hungate, BACVA/Baltimore Area Convention and Visitors Association; and Robert Brando, Bank of America.

Sheila Goodwin, left, and Tracy Baskerville, Baltimore Office of Promotion and the Arts.

TELL OUR READERS ABOUT YOUR CHARITY WORK

The Daily Record welcomes submissions, including photographs, to The Business Album. The preferred method of receipt is via e-mail. Send to thebusinessalbum@mddailyrecord.com. To submit by mail, send to The Business Album; The Daily Record; 11 E. Saratoga St.; Baltimore, MD 21202. If we don't have room in the print edition, we'll upload your photos to our Web site.

View pictures from various charity events happening around the state of Maryland at www.mddailyrecord.com/thebusinessalbum